About the Fund

Investment Objective:

Seeks positive absolute returns.

Reasons to Invest:

The Fund seeks to earn a positive total return over a full market cycle regardless of market conditions or general market direction.

Key Advantages:

Breadth of Investment Themes

The Fund uses a set of value, momentum and quality indicators to generate an investment portfolio based on AQR's proprietary global security selection and asset allocation models.

Portfolio Diversification

The Fund is designed to be market neutral. The Fund seeks to achieve returns that are not closely correlated with the equity markets in which the Fund invests.

Academic Research Foundation

Decades of academic and practitioner research have shown that investing in stocks based on value, momentum and quality may provide returns in excess of market benchmarks.

Experienced Management Team

AQR's core investment and research team has been working together and managing complex hedge fund strategies since the early 1990s.

Investment Approach

The Fund seeks to deliver positive absolute returns by taking long and short positions in equity and equity-related instruments that, based on proprietary quantitative models, are deemed to be either undervalued (and likely to increase in price) or overvalued (and likely to decrease in price).

The Fund is designed to be market neutral, targeting a portfolio beta to equity markets of zero over a normal business cycle. We construct the portfolio based on our global security selection and asset allocation models, employing the following indicators:

- Value indicators to identify investments that appear cheap based on fundamental measures, such as price-to-earnings and price-to-book ratios.
- Momentum indicators, such as simple price momentum, to identify investments with strong recent performance.
- Quality indicators to identify stable companies in good business health, including those with strong profitability and stable earnings.

Applying these and other proprietary indicators, we take long or short positions in industries, sectors and companies that we believe are conditionally attractive or unattractive. The result is a portfolio that seeks positive absolute returns with close to zero equity market beta.

Definitions:

Beta: A measure of how sensitive a fund's returns are to changes in its benchmark index. For example, if the MSCI World Index were to fall 1 percent, a fund with a beta estimate of 0.5 would fall approximately 0.5 percent.

Volatility: A statistical measure of the variation in returns for a given security or index.

PRINCIPAL RISKS:

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. An investment in the Funds involves risk, including loss of principal.

Foreign and Emerging Market investing involves special risks such as currency fluctuations and political uncertainty. Funds that emphasize investments in small and mid-cap companies generally will experience greater price volatility. The Adviser from time to time employs various hedging techniques, it is not possible to hedge fully or perfectly against any risk, and hedging entails its own costs.

This Fund is not suitable for all investors. An investor considering the Funds should be able to tolerate potentially wide price fluctuations. The Funds may attempt to increase its income or total return through the use of securities lending, and they may be subject to the possibility of additional loss as a result of this investment technique.

An investment in the Fund is subject to risks, including the possibility that the value of the Fund's portfolio holdings may fluctuate in response to events specific to the companies in which the Fund invests, as well as economic, political or social events in the United States or abroad.

An investor should consider the investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses of the Fund carefully before investing.
